power to regulate the profession of law, and will not let us set maximum standards for being one who will practice the law.

SPEAKER BROMM: One minute.

SENATOR SCHIMEK: Well, if it's okay for an attorney then to serve in the Legislature, why should it not be all right for somebody who is a clerk in a local subdivision? Not an elected clerk, but a clerk in some kind of functionary position. Why shouldn't that person be allowed to serve in the Legislature?

SENATOR CHAMBERS: Well, if an attorney was in that position, then it would apply to the attorney too. The attorney could not serve. So it's not the fact that the attorney is an attorney, but it's the job or the employer of the attorney that determines whether or not he or she can serve in the Legislature.

SENATOR SCHIMEK: Thank you, Senator Chambers.

SPEAKER BROMM: Thank you, Senator Schimek, Senator Chambers. Senator Baker, your light is next.

SENATOR BAKER: Thank you, Mr. Speaker. I would yield my time to Senator Smith, please.

SPEAKER BROMM: Senator Smith.

SENATOR SMITH: Thank you, Senator Baker, Mr. Speaker. Senator Schimek talked about a challenge and what must occur. I was wondering if she could yield to some questions regarding that.

SPEAKER BROMM: Senator Schimek, would you yield to a question from Senator Smith, please?

SENATOR SCHIMEK: I'll try.

SENATOR SMITH: Senator Schimek, you talked about what must take place for a challenge to occur, or the process. Can you repeat that again?

SENATOR SCHIMEK: Well, I think what would have to take
